LOSSES $34 BY GYPSIES' TRICK OF "GOOD LUCK"

Glenn Wright Swindled by Women, He Tells Police.

When two gypsy women approached Glenn Wright of 1214 E. 12th St., St. Louis, and asked for change for a $5 bill yesterday, Wright watched them closely as they counted out the change. They seemed grateful and told Wright to "cross" the palms with silver so they could wish him "good luck."

In pulling out a quarter, Wright took the $5 bill the women gave him and three $10 bills from his pocket. After arriving home he found $34 gone, he told police.

WOMAN AND TWO MEN HURT IN PLANE CRASH

"Dead" Engine Causes Forced Landing Three Miles From Lambert-St. Louis Field.

MACHINE IN AIR ONLY FEW MINUTES

Elzie Hubbs, 28, Gladys Green, 22, Suffer Serious Injuries; Aviator Parks' Skull Fractured.

The combination of a dead engine, and a "tight" emergency landing field yesterday caused an airplane crash three miles north of Lambert-St. Louis Field in which Oliver L. Parks, the pilot, and two passengers were critically injured.

Parks, who is 29 years old, is in Dr. L. B. Tiernon's Hospital at Pine Lawn suffering from a fracture of the skull, multiple fracture of the left leg, compound fracture of the jaw and internal injuries.

The sight of his left eye is destroyed. Miss Gladys Green, 22, of 4124 McPherson avenue, one of his passengers, has three fractures, fracture of the ankle, and is suffering from extreme shock. Elzie Hubbs, 26, of 4844 Kossuth avenue, her companion on the plane ride, is suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull, and possible internal injuries.

Woman's First Flight. Miss Green and Hubbs, who are salespeople at Nugent's Department Store, left Lambert-St. Louis Field shortly after 5 p. m. yesterday in Parks' new Swallow airplane for a trip over the surrounding country. It was their first flight. Parks, who is 29 years old, is in Dr. L. B. Tiernon's Hospital at Pine Lawn suffering from a fracture of the skull, multiple fracture of the left leg, compound fracture of the jaw and internal injuries.

Neither Airplane Nor Motor Overhauled in Four Months of Almost Continuous Flying. NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The "we" team of the air—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the "Spirit of St. Louis"—has covered more than 25,000 miles since leaving San Diego, Cal., last May prior to his historic flight to Paris, and only once has it been late for an appointment.

Neither the plane nor the motor has been overhauled during four months of almost constant flying. When the trans-Atlantic team arrived in San Diego last Wednesday it had completed 23 flying hours. Col. Lindbergh's program was arranged by the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics.

On July 20 he left Mitchell Field to start his tour. He always flies alone. This week will find him carrying on in the cities of Texas and the Western plain states, where he plans to swing east to the Southern and Eastern seaboard states before returning to New York.

MAN DIES OF STAB WOUND SUFFERED 3 MONTHS AGO. Guy H. Barbee of Litchfield, Ark., Was Cut by Fellow Employee, Wife Says.

Complications in an old stab wound, suffered in a fight last June, caused the death of Guy H. Barbee, a brakeman, of Litchfield, Ark., at Frisco Hospital yesterday. An ulcer had developed in the place where Barbee was stabbed and an operation, from which Barbee failed to rally, was performed Sept. 15.

Barbee's wife, Mary, who accompanied him here, said another railroad employee had stabbed her husband. The wound healed, but began troubling him several weeks ago, when physicians of Litchfield advised he be brought to St. Louis for the operation.

Scott said today examination of the wreckage by him and other flyers had convinced them that Parks was forced to land by a falling motor. The propeller was motionless when the plane crashed, and the ground below it was not cut up.

Parks, who lives at 7027 Waterman, is married. He formerly was a salesman for the Gravois Motor Corporation, at 6200 Gravois avenue, but went into the flying business this spring. He had been flying for two years and was licensed as a Government transport pilot.

FINED $150 FOR CARELESS DRIVING IN STOLEN AUTO. John Broyles Jr., Son of Policeman To Be Tried in October on Theft Charge.

John Broyles Jr., 17 years old, son of Patrolman John Broyles, 6208 Magnolia avenue, today was fined $150 in Police Court on charges of careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Unable to pay the fine, he will serve a term in the Workhouse.

He was driving a stolen car July 30 when it collided with the car of Charles Frederick, 4405 Hoffman avenue. He and a companion in the car ran away, but witnesses had recognized him and he was arrested at his home by his father. He was released on bond furnished by his mother, but went back to jail Friday when she canceled the bond because he stayed out late and quarreled with her.

He will be tried on the automobile theft charge, Oct. 4.

BOY, 14, DIES AFTER BEING RUN OVER BY FREIGHT TRAIN. O. C. Buckley Fell Under Wheels While "Hopping" Cars on Rock Island Line.

O. C. Buckley, 14 years old, of 5881 St. Edward street, died yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital of an injury suffered Sept. 18, when his right arm was severed by a Rock Island freight train near Natural Bridge and Goodfellow avenues.

Police were told the boy was "hopping" the train, when he missed the ladder on the side of one of the cars and fell. He had never rallied from the shock and loss of blood, it was said at the hospital.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR EX-MAYOR NOONAN

Political Associates of 35 Years Ago Gather at St. John's Catholic Church.

The funeral of former Mayor Edward A. Noonan, in St. John's Catholic Church today, was attended by a few of his political and personal associates of 35 years ago, and by many men and women of middle age, acquaintances of Judge Noonan's later years, or friends of his son, Edward A. Noonan Jr., who died in 1911.

Here and there was a man who had been political prominent in the days when Noonan was Mayor, 1883-1893. Hugh J. Brady was one of these, and James Scullin and her. There were more who counted themselves friends, who never held conspicuous positions. The white heads of laborers were bowed over the pews, and trembling voices of aged women repeated the response, "And let perpetual light shine upon him."

Few came from the world of business and finance. But David R. Francis Jr. was there, to return the tribute paid by Judge Noonan at his father's funeral last winter. He related that, during Gov. Francis' long illness, regular inquiries came from Noonan as to the patient's condition.

The city government did not appear to be represented. The Democratic local organization, and the small body of Democrats now or recently in office here, had representatives. City Chairman Mostes, Senator Kinney, Dr. John H. Simon, John R. McCarthy and Congressman Cochran were among these.

The pallbearers, friends and companions of the deceased "Ed," Noonan were Gladys B. Arnold, Arthur Fitzsimmons, A. A. O'Kallron, William C. Connett, Colby M. Selph and Campbell Cummings.

The old church at Sixteenth and Chestnut streets was not closely filled, but nearly every pew had occupants, when the flower-covered coffin was taken in at 9 a. m. Judge Noonan's two daughters, Mrs. Guy Colterman and Mrs. Walter Gember, were in the small family group.

John A. Rohan, veteran singer, was in the choir loft, chanting the Latin hymns of the church, which he interspersed with "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Nearer My God, to Thee."

Rev. Father C. P. Maxwell, assistant pastor of St. John's, celebrated requiem mass, and followed it with a brief talk. Regarding Judge Noonan's death, which was by his own hand, he said: "The weight of years, the loneliness of life after so many of his friends had gone, and the pain of sickness, caused his once bright mind to grow dim and to fail."

49 OF RAREST ORCHIDS FOR QUEEN OF BEAUTY

Shaw's Garden to Provide Bouquets at the Veiled Prophet's Ball.

The rarest and finest orchids in the world—49 of them—are being tended like children of royalty at Shaw's Garden for the bouquet to be carried by the Veiled Prophet's Queen, at the ball at the Coliseum, Oct. 5.

The rarest and possibly the finest of them is the Odontoglossum Powellii. It was discovered four years ago by Judge Shaw and W. Powell, whose gift of his tropical garden made the orchid collection here the finest in a public garden in the world, and was named for him by a Berlin scientist.

It languished in cultivation, and for two years the only known specimen was at Shaw's Garden. Last spring, however, George H. Pring brought several specimens to the garden from the tropics.

This beautiful rarity is found only in the Chiriqui region of Panama, in a small area of the jungle known to none but Pring and a half-dozen natives. Its petals are slender and exquisite—it is a suave and impressive symphony of browns.

Four bouquets of the rarest roses also are to be made up at the garden for the Queen's special maids of honor. The roses are being selected to harmonize precisely with the velvet of the ceremonial robes.

SON MOURNED AS DEAD SENDS TELEGRAM TO HIS PARENTS. Herman Brunner Left Home July 14 and It Was Feared He Had Ended Life.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brunner, 2313 North Fifteenth street, who have been mourning their son, Herman, 32 years old, as dead, yesterday received this telegram from Houston, Tex.: "Alive and well. Will be home soon. HERMAN."

Herman left home July 14 and did not return. On that day a man carrying a knapsack leaped into the Mississippi River from the Municipal Bridge and did not come to the surface. Herman, despondent, had once told his parents: "I am going to jump off a bridge some of these days and I'll tie a bag of stones around my back so they'll never find my body."

Under the circumstances, the Brunners declined their son had drowned himself.

AMUSEMENT TRADES COUNCIL IS PROPOSED

Employees of Theaters, Dance Halls and Similar Places Plan Separate Body.

Plans for the organization of an Amusement Trades Council are under discussion by representatives of local labor unions whose members are employed in St. Louis theaters, dance halls and amusement parks. The proposed organization would be similar to the Building Trades Council, and the Central Trades and Labor Union, with which the majority of the crafts to be included in the new body are affiliated. Organizations interested in the proposed council include musicians, movie operators, waiters, bartenders, electricians and other union employees of theaters and places of amusement and several of crafts engaged in the manufacture and supply of materials and merchandise used or sold in places of amusement.

Fifteen crafts having a membership of about 5000 workers have been incorporated into a tentative Amusement Council, headed by William Brandt, business agent of the Cigar-makers' Union, and David Kreyling, secretary of the Central Trades. The proposal that a regularly chartered body affiliated with the American Federation of Labor be formed has been referred to the individual unions involved for definite recommendation.

The purpose of the proposed council, according to Kreyling, is a better understanding between the individual crafts and their employers, and the settlement of all disputes through arbitration. Kreyling said the council will be its efforts to the unionization of unorganized employees of amusement places where this was economically possible.

Central Trades and Labor delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held at Los Angeles next month, were instructed at yesterday's meeting to introduce a resolution which would withdraw the right of any concern which is not 100 per cent union to display any union label or card. The action is directed against chain stores, which frequently employ members of a single union, such as bakers, while disregarding union butchers and other organized crafts. It is considered doubtful that the resolution will pass the national convention.

ST. LOUIS CONCERN MERGED WITH PITTSBURG CORPORATION

Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. Takes Over Walsh Clay Products Co.

Through an affiliation of ownership effected between the Walsh Fire Clay Products Co., 4070 North Main street, and the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., announced today, the two corporations expect to reach a greater area and to enjoy purchasing and other economic advantages.

Robert A. B. Walsh, president of the Walsh company, said the affiliation was made through exchange of capital stock between the companies, but he did not wish to announce details. His concern is capitalized at $1,500,000 and the Harbison-Walker company for $40,000,000. The North Main street plant here will not be affected by the merger, but will be retained by the Mississippi Glass Co. of the same address.

Regarded as the largest refractory producer in the country, Harbison-Walker has not had a plant in this section. It now will be affiliated with the large Walsh plant at Vandalia, Mo., and elsewhere in this State.

A. H. KAYSER, RETIRED INSURANCE BROKER, DIES
 He Was 67 Years Old and Had Been an Invalid for 10—
 Funeral Wednesday.
 The funeral of Alexander H. Kayser who died last night at Westminster Hospital, following an illness of several years, will be at 10 a. m. Wednesday from his home, 815 East Big Bend road, Webster Groves. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mr. Kayser, who was 67 years old, retired from the insurance business, in which he had been a broker, 24 years ago, after suffering a paralytic stroke. For 10 years he had been an invalid. He had watched with eagerness the development of aviation, and when he insisted upon having a ride in an airplane, was taken to Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field in a wheelchair, which he left to be helped into the passenger's seat of one of the ships there. He went aloft for a brief flight.

In 1889 Mr. Kayser was married to Miss Virginia Cabanne, member of the old St. Louis family of that name. He is survived by one son, Edwin Alexander Kayser, with whom he lived, and a brother, Robert L. Kayser, an executive of a dairy concern.

AMUSEMENT TRADES COUNCIL IS PROPOSED

Employees of Theaters, Dance Halls and Similar Places Plan Separate Body.

Plans for the organization of an Amusement Trades Council are under discussion by representatives of local labor unions whose members are employed in St. Louis theaters, dance halls and amusement parks. The proposed organization would be similar to the Building Trades Council, and the Central Trades and Labor Union, with which the majority of the crafts to be included in the new body are affiliated. Organizations interested in the proposed council include musicians, movie operators, waiters, bartenders, electricians and other union employees of theaters and places of amusement and several of crafts engaged in the manufacture and supply of materials and merchandise used or sold in places of amusement.

Fifteen crafts having a membership of about 5000 workers have been incorporated into a tentative Amusement Council, headed by William Brandt, business agent of the cigarmakers' union, and David Kreysling, secretary of the Central Trades. The proposal that a regularly chartered body affiliated with the American Federation of Labor be formed has been referred to the individual unions involved for definite recommendation.

The purpose of the proposed council, according to Kreysling, is a better understanding between the individual crafts and their employers, and the settlement of all disputes through arbitration. Kreysling said the council will be its efforts to the unionization of unorganized employees of amusement places where this was economically possible.

Central Trades and Labor delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held at Los Angeles next month, were instructed at yesterday's meeting to introduce a resolution which would withdraw the right of any concern which is not 100 per cent union to display any union label or card. The action is directed against chain stores, which frequently employ members of a single union, such as bakers, while disregarding union butchers and other organized crafts. It is considered doubtful that the resolution will pass the national convention.

ST. LOUIS CONCERN MERGED WITH PITTSBURG CORPORATION

Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. Takes Over Walsh Clay Products Co.

Through an affiliation of ownership effected between the Walsh Fire Clay Products Co., 4070 North Main street, and the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., announced today, the two corporations expect to reach a greater area and to enjoy purchasing and other economic advantages.

Robert A. B. Walsh, president of the Walsh company, said the affiliation was made through exchange of capital stock between the companies, but he did not wish to announce details. His concern is capitalized at $1,500,000 and the Harbison-Walker company for $40,000,000. The North Main street plant here will not be affected by the merger, but will be retained by the Mississippi Glass Co. of the same address.

PULITZER AWARDS GO TO FOREIGN BORN

College Scholarships Given to 10 Graduates of New York High Schools.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The annual Pulitzer scholarship awards, established to aid deserving graduates of New York City High Schools in obtaining a college education, were announced yesterday by Prof. Adam Leroy Jones, director of admissions of Columbia University.

Nine boys win scholarships this year, replacing those graduated from the ranks of Pulitzer scholars in June and completing the total of 40 students the fund can help at one time. The scholarships were founded by Joseph Pulitzer in 1899 and lasting provision was made for them in Mr. Pulitzer's will.

The scholarships carry an annual allowance of $150 and the awardees may enter another institution but in that case receive only an annual allowance.

The nine chosen are Isadore Zieferstein, Emerson Buchanan, Oscar Keller, James Joseph O'Connell, S. Benedict Levin, Richard H. Wilhelm, Richard E. O'Keefe, Sydney Penner and Leslie D. Taggart.

Winners' Physical Condition Better Than That of Most Striking Candidates about the successful candidates, as well as the 60 others who applied, is the general excellence of their physical condition. In this respect notable average improvement has been shown during the 28 years the scholarships have been in effect.

Teeth are far better than in the past, and eyes also have improved. This is due to examinations and health work in the public schools. Lung capacities are greater, thanks to widespread participation in athletics. The average age of applicants was 17 and average height 5 feet 7 inches.

Three of the winners were foreign born. Zieferstein, who is 18 years old, was born in the Ukraine. He ranked highest in both college entrance examinations and intelligence test, receiving a mark of 108 in the latter and a percentage of 90.61 in the former. He has been in this country seven years, following his father here after the Jewish persecutions of 1916 in Russia. He will study to become a doctor.

Hungary, in 1908, and came here four years ago with a record of scholarships won in his native land. He hopes to become a chemical engineer. He rated 82.9 per cent in examination and scored 87 in intelligence.

Taggart, a 17-year-old six-footer, came from Glasgow seven years ago. His examination mark was 75 per cent and the psychological rating 100.

Committee Explains Pulitzer Aims. "It was Mr. Pulitzer's particular desire," the committee on award explained, "that all boys graduating from the public high schools of the city of New York, who, except for the benefit of such scholarships, might not, without serious handicap, obtain college education, should feel themselves eligible to compete for this privilege."

The committee, therefore, awarded the scholarship according to the need as well as the merit of the candidate. There is no place in the world in which the democratic spirit prevails more generally than in a good college. A man is almost certain to be valued there for what he is rather than for what he has.

"Mr. Pulitzer's wish was to open to some boys, who by themselves might not be able to command a college education, these careers in which a thorough education is almost indispensable to success."

Candidates were required to qualify from the standpoint of scholarship and financial need. Awards were made with special reference to "scholarship, qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, intelligent interest in public affairs, kindness, unselfishness, fellowship and public spirit, and exhibition during school days of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and take an interest in his schoolmates."

The committee included Ralph Pulitzer, H. J. D. Colladay, secretary; Dr. John L. Tildesley, director of the Board of Education; John L. Heaton of the editorial staff of the World, and Prof. Jones.

BRIDE ARRESTED FOR TAKING HUSBAND'S MORTGAGED AUTO

Wife, 18, Who Left Justice of the Peace Hitchings, 33, Says Machine Was Stolen.

Mrs. Bernice Hitchings, 18-year-old bride of Justice of the Peace Thomas Hitchings, 33 years old, of Belleville, who left him July 1, three days after their wedding, was brought back from Chicago yesterday to answer a charge of removing mortgaged property from the State. She drove away in an automobile "given her by Hitchings as a wedding present. There was a mortgage on the machine. Mrs. Hitchings was Hitchings' stenographer before their marriage.

The automobile, stripped of all removable parts, was found abandoned in Detroit. Mrs. Hitchings said it had been stolen.

FREE 10-Day Tube—Send the Coupon

Maybe your teeth are gloriously clear, simply clouded with a film coat. Make this remarkable test.

Gleaming, Glorious Teeth

Gums like coral to contrast them

Do you seriously seek the charm they bring? Then please accept this remarkable dental test. It's simply a stubborn FILM ON YOUR TEETH which ordinary ways fail to remove, and which this NEW way overcomes safely—scientifically.

DULL teeth, "off-color" teeth; gums that are softening, lack firmness—modern science has made important, new discoveries in overcoming them.

With right daily care, you can work a transformation in your mouth, and add immeasurably to your appearance and attractiveness.

This offers you a test without charge... the most remarkable, according to dental authorities, of all dental tests. In fairness to yourself, send the coupon.

FILM—your enemy. How it invites tooth and gum troubles

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

You can't see it with your eyes, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it... a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

You can't have pretty teeth unless you combat it. Highest authorities all tell you this.

Brushing won't end it

Ordinary dentifrices and chasing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to it. Tooth and gum troubles hence are on the decline.

It removes that film. And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. No harsh grit, judged dangerous to enamel.

Why cling to old methods when world's authorities urge a better way?

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN STREET QUARREL

Albert Hillman Found Shot in Arm and Chest; 3 Men Held by Police.

Responding to a report that a man had been shot in the rear of 2009 Kosciuszko street early yesterday, policemen who went there found Albert Hillman, a chauffeur, of 1609 South Second street, lying there critically wounded. He was shot in the abdomen, chest and left arm. His condition was so serious the policemen made no effort to learn from him who had shot him but, in their investigation of the affair, arrested a man who is charged with the shooting and several others, who are held as witnesses.

Erwin Helke of 2006 South Second street, one of those held as a witness, told police he and Yewell Russell of 1901 Park avenue, had scuffled in the alley in the rear of the Kosciuszko street address, and that he lost a tie pin and ring during the altercation. Hillman, who was in the house, came out to help find the lost articles, and during the search, Russell was pushed several times, Helke said.

Russell, police were told, then went in the house, got a revolver and returned to the alley, where he fired four shots, intending them apparently for Helke. Hillman fell, however, and, according to Russell's sister, Pearl, Russell came in the house and said he had shot a man.

CITY SEEKS MODIFICATION OF OLIVE STREET WRIT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 26.—Modification of a restraining order that has blocked paving work on widened Olive street pending determination by the Supreme Court of a suit attacking the validity of three amendments to the public improvement sections of the St. Louis Charter, was urged in a motion filed in Supreme Court today by Associate City Counselor Oliver P. Sent.

The court was asked to modify the restraining order to the extent that the city could clear away the debris and put in curbs and sidewalks, payment to be made from the city's share of $141,000 of the cost of the project. This modification will not affect the remainder of the work to be paid for through special tax bills, it was said. The motion was taken under advisement by the court.

J. L. BANKSON FOUND DEAD BY HIS SON

Funeral Services for Principal of Gardenville School, to Be Held Tomorrow.

The funeral of John L. Bankson, principal of Gardenville School at 6651 Gravois avenue, who died at Hotel Buckingham last night, will take place at 4 p. m. tomorrow at the undertaker's chapel at 2233 South Grand boulevard. Burial will be at Chamois, Mo. Mr. Bankson's native town.

Mr. Bankson's death is attributed to heart disease from which he had suffered several months. At the beginning of the present school term he returned to his post at the Gardenville School and on Friday spent the usual hours at the school. He complained of feeling ill yesterday, however, and after dinner retired to the suite which he shared with a son, Randolph Bankson, who later found his father dead.

Mr. Bankson was 59 years old. He was born in Cooper County and was graduated from Washington and Lee University law school. He taught in country schools in Missouri, then became in turn principal of Booneville High School and Superintendent of Schools of Jefferson City. He came to St. Louis 12 years ago and taught at Yeatman High School and the Teachers' College, subsequently serving as principal of Douglas, Froebel, Lincoln and Gardenville schools. He is survived by two sons, Randolph, with whom he lived, and Robert, an engineer, attached to the staff of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., at Little Rock, Ark., and a sister, Mrs. F. H. Hobericht of St. Louis.

SAYS INFANTILE PARALYSIS GERM IS DEFINITELY KNOWN

Proper Serum Animal is Only
Need For Control, Harvard
Professor Asserts.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The germ of infantile paralysis has been definitely classified, thereby simplifying the task of science in its attempts to overcome the disease. Dr. W. L. Aycock, head of the Harvard infantile paralysis commission, said. The main problem now is to find a suitable animal to yield an anti-toxin.

"The only animal which takes the disease seems to be the monkey," said Dr. Aycock, and the latter's mortality is so high that it is an unsatisfactory subject. When we discover the proper animal for serum purposes, infantile paralysis will be controlled."

Dr. Aycock pointed out that a somewhat similar problem confronted science when the diphtheria germ was first isolated and finally it was found diphtheria serum could be made from the blood of the horse.

The infantile paralysis germ is too small to be detected even by the most powerful microscope, Dr. Aycock said, but its presence was proved by evidence of growth. He denied an infantile paralysis epidemic existed. He pointed out that in Massachusetts there has been one-fourth the number of cases reported this year as compared to 1925.

GARY SAYS HE OPPOSES ROAD BOND ISSUE OF $120,000,000

Former State Highway Commissioner Asserts Such an Amount is Unreasonable.

By the Associated Press.
MACON, Mo., Sept. 25.—Indicating that he was against any big bond issue, but would not oppose issuance of road bonds in any "reasonable amount" to finish the Missouri Highway program as adopted, was given by Theodore Gary, former chairman of the State Highway Commission, here yesterday.

"While I do not believe the issuance of more road bonds is necessary to finish the plan as adopted, I would not oppose a reasonable amount," Mr. Gary declared.

Curtains and Draperies

Toiles de Jouy

These quaint prints were originated in the 18th century by Oberkampf at Jouy, near Paris, whence they take their name. These we show are printed in one color, blue, lacquer red or green on natural cotton and depict scenes of rural life. They are delightfully appropriate for draperies and furniture coverings, attractive bed hangings and spreads. 30 inches wide.

$1.50 the yard

Blocked Linens

A decorative fabric of unusual beauty for hangings of formal rooms or of bedrooms. Blocked linens introduce a cheerful note of color to offset the drabness of winter. Effective designs appear on old blue, peach, lacquer red or natural grounds. They come 50 inches wide and are moderately priced.

$4.00 $6.50 $8.00 the yard

Tied Net

Tied net, of twisted cotton securely fastened to hold its shape, is very suitable for glass curtains in rooms of Spanish or Italian influence or in any formal room. A charming effect can be obtained in combination with Blocked Linen overdrapes. This net is in the natural color and comes 45 inches wide.

$1.35 the yard

URGES INVESTMENT BANKERS TO CUT WASTE

Thomas N. Dysart Addresses Convention at Seattle on Too Many Discounts.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 26.—Reduction of waste in handling of securities so that costs "may be lowered to borrowers and lenders" is one of the principal tasks before the Investment Bankers Association of America, in the opinion of Thomas N. Dysart of St. Louis, here for the opening today of the sixteenth annual convention of the organization.

"While none of the waste is in itself seriously large now, it should be reckoned with in the interest of the investment buyers," said Dysart, a former president of the association. "Unnecessary and unwarranted discounts are allowed to many classes of buyers. Circulation is overdone and offerings are frequently wastefully costly to distributors. The present convention will effect many reductions in costs through discussions and expected agreements."

While the 22 governors of the association staged a 12-hour session ending early today, 600 other delegates inspected local industries.

Reed Hayes of New York City has been approved by the convention as an proposed candidate for president of the association to succeed Pinney Jewell of Boston.

Gov. John E. Martineau of Arkansas is scheduled to give one of the principal addresses of the convention Wednesday on the subject "Why Investors Should be Interested in Flood Control of the Mississippi and its tributaries."

Gov. Martineau's subject is regarded as one of the most important to come before the convention as millions of dollars in securities are affected by the Mississippi flood situation and the question of possible Federal relief.

MOVING GOAL POSTS BACK 10 YARDS CAUSES CONFUSION IN GAME

PLANS ALREADY MADE TO CHANGE PRESENT RULES

Suggestion Is Made That Special Markings Be Made to Determine the Goal Line.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Out of the football rules changes which, in the main, failed to cause any deviation from the general standard of play in opening contests, one which had been given little consideration by coaches and officials seems to be causing some confusion to players and spectators.

The chief reason for moving the goal posts 10 yards beyond the goal line was to emphasize goals after touchdowns and goals from the field. While the objective may have been attained, opening games have been so confused by players attempting to gauge distance when receiving punts and when carrying the ball near the goal. Spectators, likewise, were uncertain regarding the distance to be covered for a touchdown.

Suggestions already have arisen for a correction to do away with that situation, among them plans for special markings at the goal line. The new rule governing the lateral pass was not put to a test. Only a very few of the East's teams regarding the timing of shifts and the huddle did not tend to run up penalties. The huddle system of calling plays scarcely was used, while the teams employing shifts had no special difficulty. First games afforded no basis for determining whether the rule on time lapses between the shift and the snapping of the ball, and the time limit on the huddle, will have a marked effect on the sport. Most of the teams were not far enough advanced to assume involved play.

BOXING HEAD SAYS DEMPSEY'S PROTEST WILL BRING HEARING

ter which will arrive at your office Tuesday morning, asking you to reverse the decision and declare Jack Dempsey the winner by a knockout over Gene Tunney.

Flynn indicated that an appeal would be made to the National Boxing Commission in the event that the Illinois commission stuck to its decision to uphold the decision that gave Tunney the fight.

The National Boxing Commission is an association of commissioners of 18 states, banded together for the purpose of uniform regulations of boxing. Its headquarters are at Baltimore.

Body Holds No Power. To those familiar with the operation of the National Commission it seemed most improbable that it would offer much relief to Flynn. The general opinion was that the National Commission holds no power to overrule a member state commission. Rather, the National Association heretofore has functioned as the endorser of member commissioners' rulings. Where one state commission has ruled a boxer ineligible, for example, all other commissions who are members of the National Association automatically have barred that boxer.

Illinois is one of the newest members of the National Commission, but an influential one, due to the frequency with which important fights are held within its borders. Most students of boxing here are openly skeptical over the interference one way or the other of the National Commission.

Fights "a Closed Book." Dempsey's closest associates have pointed out that Dempsey himself was not inclined to file a protest over the decision, but that he felt duty-bound to stand by his manager, Flynn. He has been insistent that the decision permitting Tunney to continue after the knock-out in the seventh was unfair.

John Ringier, chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, said that the fight, so far as the commission is concerned, is "a closed book."

WILLIE HUNTER TAKES SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GOLF MEET WITH A 68

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion, yesterday won the Southern California open golf title from a strong field of California players. He scored a 68 to beat out George von Elm, former national amateur and defending title, by 4 strokes. His 72-hole total for the tournament was 255. Charlie Guest and Jack Tarrant divided second money with a card of 73 for a total of 291.

Harry Cooper, Baltimore Club pro, and Vic d'Albarte of the Los Angeles Country Club, finished even with 74 for a 292 to share third prize.

WRAY'S COLUMN

How Do We Get That Way?

A rooster is speaking. Via the telephone. "Say, Wray, how do you get that way about Tunney? You know they robbed Dempsey out of that championship. That big stiff Tunney ain't a fighter; he's just a hike rider."

This in spite of the columns of explanations, seems to voice a deep-seated impression prevailing among many fight followers. Even those who attended the fight and many of them knew less than the radio listeners—cling to the view.

Count Did Not Save Gene.

THE complaint that Dempsey was robbed has no foundation. Dempsey did not hasten back to his corner in the excitement of the knockdown, as prescribed by an agreement entered into before the battle. Therefore, the official count did not begin at once. That gave Tunney three or more seconds advantage.

This did not necessarily save Tunney. Tunney was ready and waiting to rise long before the official count ended. It was this fact that emphasized the length of the time he was on the floor. Sitting directly across the ring from the fallen fighter and looking directly into his eyes, this writer saw Tunney's expression clear up at the count of four or five. He was ready to go by six or seven, but staid down. That was good judgment.

Dempsey Went Biking, Also.

A side to Tunney's being a bicycle rider rather than a fighter, Dempsey mounted his own little wheel, in the last couple of rounds, dodging and turning like a rabbit in a courting match.

Tunney, naturally, avoided Dempsey as he rose from the knockdown; and thereby displayed good judgment. The writer has always been a Dempsey supporter—still is. Jack is probably the greatest hitter of his inches of all time, not even excepting Fitzsimmons, or Jim Jeffries. But, at this time, Dempsey is Tunney's inferior and will lose as often as they fight. Tunney simply knows his Dempsey.

Those Amazing Cards.

STILL in the hunt for the pennant, our astounding Cardinals continue to amaze us. They still had an outside chance to win this morning, although the odds were 7-1 heavily against them.

No matter what happens now, it can be said with full truth that the Cardinals have run the greatest pennant race of any team in either league, handicaps considered. Their difficulties have been endless before. Everyone knows that every department of play that represented the team in the world's series, went on the rocks during the season closed. The entire outfield was mangled—two places on the infield have been sound throughout the year. The catching staff lost the ace who carried on almost throughout the entire 1927 season, and the pitching was weaker by at least two of its first-string hurlers of last year.

Minor leaguers were dragged in—were still in "lineup"; but the old "mascot" line, shaking in every joint, is still steaming on the heels of "Pirates." The mighty leadership of a Hornsby no longer explains it. Whatever spirit animates the team, it certainly has sufficed to lift it at the "extraordinary" series of discouragements that probably ever afflicted a world's title winner.

Oklahoma Aggies Will Face Bear Team Saturday

St. Louis U. Starts Preparation for Game With Jackson University.

St. Louis' two collegiate football eleven, Washington and St. Louis U. winners in the first games of the season, today started preparation for stiffer arguments, scheduled for the week-end. Washington is preparing for its initial Missouri Valley contest of the campaign, that with the Oklahoma Aggies, while the Billikens will face Jackson University of Chillicothe, Mo.

While the coming game will be the second for Washington, it will be the inaugural contest of the season for the Aggies. Little is known here of the eleven which Johnny Maubetsch will send into action at Francis Field.

Coch Higgins and his assistants will stress on two points during the practice sessions. In the Lombard practice, there was an over-amount of fumbling, while the punting was none too good. As a result efforts will be made to bring about an improvement.

None of the Washington players received injuries of any great importance and all are expected to be ready for the battle with the Aggies. Ted Whittier received a bad cut on the head, but this is not expected to keep him on the sidelines for the first championship battle.

Bob Mathews' Billikens came out of the Southern Illinois Normal game in good condition and all the players will be on hand when practice is resumed this afternoon. Jackson, the opponent for the Billikens Saturday, was defeated by the local Freshmen last year, but is not taken lightly as an opponent.

In the game with Southern Illinois, forward passing proved one of the chief weapons of attack for the St. Louis eleven. This proved an unusual procedure for so early in the campaign.

TOLEDO PLAYS BUFFALO FOR CLASS AA TITLE

Mudhens Win Association Flag, Taking Double Header—"Little World Series" Will Be Opened Wednesday.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The cheery flap of an American Association pennant at last will be heard over the Toledo ball park.

Breaking through a crust of association tradition and misfortune which has passed the circuit championship to every club in the league except Toledo since 1910, the Mud Hens emerged victorious in one of the warmest races in years yesterday. Because of its championship, the Hens will represent the association in the "little world series" with Buffalo, the International League champions, in a nine-game series starting at Toledo next Wednesday.

It took the last day of the American Association to decide the race. With a full game advantage over its two rivals, Toledo came through with a double victory over Indianapolis yesterday, 5 to 2 and 1 to 0. Kansas City tied Milwaukee for a second place by winning a twin bill from Minneapolis, 3 to 2 and 6 to 2, while the Milwaukee Brewers divided a doubleheader with the troublesome Saints, winning the first 9 to 5 and losing the nightcap 15 to 6. Thus the Mud Hens were on top of the association heap by a margin of two full games at the close.

The Toledo championship was hailed by Thomas Hickey, president and one of the founders of the American Association, as one of the greatest things that could happen for the league.

"It is a fine reward for the loyal Toledo fans who have supported their team through all kinds of baseball adversity," he said.

ALL-STAR GRID GAME CHRISTMAS DAY IN LOS ANGELES PLANNED

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 26.—An all-star football game Christmas day between teams composed of amateurs from the South and from the Pacific Coast was announced yesterday by Champ Pickens, sportsman and capitalist of Birmingham, Ala., who has enlisted the backing of five Los Angeles newspapers. Pickens said that Fred Pickard, captain of this year's Alabama team, would head the eleven from the South, and that Dick Lyland, backfield flash from Stanford University, probably would lead the coast team. The game, Pickens said, would be played for charity.

It had made a fine start in the opening round. Navy graduates Davis and Elkins. The Midshipmen have a powerful team ready and will use Saturday's game as a conditioner for the inter-sectional "tag" the following week. A Missouri Valley member, Dana, in last Saturday's opening games there were no upsets; the one surprise in the East was a win and Marshall holding Penn to 8 points.

New Athletic Conference Will Hold Its Meeting in St. Louis on Dec. 2 and 3

Withdrawal From Missouri Valley of Six Schools Made Necessary for Betterment of Sports—Missouri Committee Has Approved Proposal, Says Brewer.

By the Associated Press. LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 26.—The action taken by six universities in withdrawing from the Missouri Valley Conference marks the beginning of a new era in intercollegiate athletic circles is the opinion voiced by Herbert D. Gish, athletic director of the University of Nebraska and chairman of the new conference composed of Iowa State, Missouri, Kansas, Kansas State Agricultural College, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

"The withdrawal has come only after long consideration and discussion," Director Gish stated. "It has come about because it was necessary for the progress and betterment of athletics, not only to ourselves but to the other teams of the Missouri Valley."

Gish pointed out that the fact that when a conference has grown so large that each team cannot arrange to meet the other members in the group each session, the real benefit and purpose of that organization has been defeated. He pointed out that the new arrangement would permit a round-robin schedule for every member of the group and leave open dates permitting games with other schools, while the former conference organization with ten schools would not permit such a schedule in any one branch of sport.

The new group will meet at St. Louis Dec. 2 and 3, when the regular Missouri Valley conference will be held. The new group will discuss athletic arrangements for the coming season takes place. At that time, the committee on the constitution and by-laws of the new organization will report to that body, and their work will be passed upon, Gish stated.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 26.—The new athletic conference to be composed of the six universities and colleges which announced their withdrawal from the 10 members of the Missouri Valley conference effective in the fall of 1928 will provide closer relations in legislation and formulation of rules, C. L. Brewer, athletic director of the University of Missouri said yesterday.

"No friction or motive of unfriendliness motivated the break with the four remaining schools," Brewer said. "The severance of relations was a long contemplated move for the purpose of bringing together colleges of similar size and athletic prowess."

The committee on inter-collegiate athletics at the University of Missouri said yesterday.

McMILLAN CAPTURES OAKLAND NET TITLE FOR FOURTH YEAR

Vernon Tietjen, junior indoor and outdoor municipal tennis champion, was defeated by Charles McMillan yesterday for the men's singles championship of the Oakland Tennis Club. The score was 6-3, 6-1, 6-4. This is McMillan's fourth successive year as leading player of the club. The women's singles championship of the club was won yesterday by Ruth Anderson, who defeated Catherine Beutel, 6-3, 6-4. Cups will be awarded the victors at a meeting in the near future.

DAVIS CUP TO BE DISPLAYED IN PARIS

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Tennis enthusiasts of France are to have an opportunity to gaze upon the Davis Cup emblem of international supremacy in tennis. When Henri Cochet of the victorious French team landed at Havre with the cup under his arm, customs officials there demanded that the duty on it be paid. The welcoming committee had made provision for this, so it was seized by the customs department. Today, however, as the protests of the tennis fans increased, Director General of Customs Chomane ordered the trophy admitted duty free. "Tomorrow it is to be brought to Paris."

EASTERN TEAM GAINS VICTORY IN NET SERIES

Tilden Loses Only Games in Defeating Intercollegiate Competition.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The eastern team, composed of Tilden and Wallace Johnson, the intercollegiate team, competition here yesterday, losing the Western team of Lott, Lucia Williams and Hennessy, two matches in the final round.

The Easterners won singles matches, but were out in the doubles after a close set encounter. For three brief sets, Tilden, a flash of the tennis genius kept him on top of the set for seven years, as he won through the youthful George J. Davis Cup, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1. Lott tried to stem the tide of miracles which glanced off his wrist, but Tilden relentlessly went through, mixing his strokes and forcing the Chicagoan to frequent, costly errors.

In the other singles match, Johnson polished off Lucia Williams, second ranking star of Chicago, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1. Johnson's deceptive strokes dug into the soggy courts and Williams was powerless to stop them all the way. The doubles was the most interesting struggle of the day, Lott and Hennessy winning in four sets over Tilden and Johnson, that lasted until darkness had overtaken the courts. The 11-3, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1. The tournament play was a town and tennis club affair.

Outfielders Stop Morgan's. Johnny Hammer, Morgan hurler, found the Cincy boys tough and was jerked after five runs were tallied in the first five innings. Hammer, however, was not wholly to blame. Unlucky breaks in a tough outfield saved most of the damage.

The second game started off well, as the St. Louis boys tallied three in the first three frames and seemed headed for a third victory. But Cramer, who started the battle, weakened in the fifth and by the sixth frame the Tailors had scored seven times. Repeating, who replaced Cramer, appeared tired from his Saturday effort and was bluffed.

In the meantime the Morgan made only two hits off Harry Evers, St. Louis outfielder, who rebuffed Ray Klink on the hill, in the last seven innings.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the public welfare, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For Better Traffic Control.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ONE reason for traffic tangles in St. Louis is lack of co-ordination between officer and signal control. Co-ordinate Grand-Washington signal to operate "stop and go" same as Grand-Lindell. Officer at Grand-Lindell should control his intersection with Grand-Lindell, permitting north-south traffic to move all together for this distance. Abolish parking on Olive from Channing to Sarah and also on Lindell from Locust to Grand. Install signal tower at Grand-Lindell to co-ordinate with Grand-Lindell.

Recondition cross streets from Olive to Pine near Grand, permitting traffic to move over to Forest Park boulevard and Pine to have clear street to west. Install spotlight at Olive-Grand to illuminate traffic officer. Cleveland, O., placed all traffic signals in center of street, suspended by four cables from buildings, permitting of easy visibility. Efforts of traffic division on Lindell are worthy and a step in the right direction.

St. Louis is behind on traffic control and street improvements. Olive project is great work. But never permit concrete safety zones—use wooden platforms which are movable, and have guard chain suspended from heavy iron standards. Platforms should be six inches high with a six-inch concrete block at the end.

Come on, St. Louis let's go.
"A Booster."

Why Hate Good Dogs?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HAVING read both articles of "Dogs Running at Large" and "Fate of Unchained Dogs" will say that there is truth in both; but have the least consideration for the one who wrote him or herself as a "Dog Hater." I was scolded when I was three years old for failing backwards into a tub of water that my grandmother had left on the floor, but that did not make me grow up to hate her or to dislike hot water.

It is true some dogs are a nuisance, but what of the many that are a pleasure both to grown-ups and children? We all have our likes and dislikes, but why not have some respect for others.

MRS. H. T. K.

Flowers for "Fit."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MY COMPLIMENTS to your cartoonist, Fitzpatrick. What a rich mixture of thought is necessary to caricature the present-day triumph of "sauce over fish, of twaddle over sense, sentiment over mind and rabbit over dogs."

His cartoons—the one depicting the rabbit chasing the greyhound and the rabbit chasing the greyhound—seem to live lives of their own; like half-tamed animals, drowsing in their cages, but waking at times to make the welkin ring.

They Got the Coolidge Habit.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MARK TWAIN once said, "Man is governed largely by habit instead of by reason." A little observation in the everyday affairs of life should convince one that there is much truth in this statement.

When that ominous message came from the Black Hills, saying: "I do not choose," which being translated from the Vermont dialect is said to mean, "I refuse," there was much consternation among our great tickler-talented financiers and behemoth business men.

They had become so accustomed to associating the Coolidge name and personality with aviation, that they could imagine no capable substitute for him. They were dominated by habit instead of by reason.

Paine's Profession of Faith.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REGARDING the mooted question concerning the religious belief of the great patriot philosopher, Thomas Paine, may I be permitted to quote paragraph 4 of his immortal work, "The Age of Reason?" His own simple words should carry conviction to the minds of thinking people:

"I believe in one God, and no more; and I hope for happiness beyond this life."

In view of this plain, unequivocal profession of faith, made at a time when the az of Robespierre hung over his noble head, it is difficult to believe that any honest, well-informed man can say that the father of American liberty was an atheist.

Care of the Blind.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I appeared an article regarding the blind people of this city. There is a statement in that article which I wish to correct. It says that there are institutions in the city where the blind can be taken care of. That is not true, as there is no home for the blind in this State. There is a small home on Page avenue for blind girls only, but it can only take care of a few there. This article has done great harm to the blind men here who are forced to sell goods from home to home.

A FRIEND OF THE BLIND.

A HOME RULE VICTORY.

St. Louis is one of the seven big cities that have zoning ordinances. The others are New York, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles. The idea, however, is not confined to the big cities. A recent survey shows that 533 communities have adopted this plan. They have a total population of 30,000,000, or 55 per cent of the urban residents of the country. Towns and even villages are included, along with metropolitan centers.

The zoning victory, as the Post-Dispatch has previously pointed out, is a small-town triumph. The honor goes to Euclid, Ohio, which carried the issue to the Supreme Court of the United States.

St. Louis' experience epitomizes the fight that was made to establish this principle. We lost a battle in our State Supreme Court. But we won the war. And if Euclid, Ohio, had not appealed to our highest tribunal some other city would have done so. The principle embodied in this policy of protecting the individual property owner as well as serving the greater good of the whole community is essentially sound and was destined to prevail.

The victory is more than the triumph of a specific idea. It is the triumph of a principle—the principle of home rule. Viewed in that light the average citizen, disheartened by the mania which has obsessed us for taking our difficulties to Washington or to State capitals, may find occasion for hope and courage. His faith in the sovereignty of his citizenship may be renewed. Certainly every citizen of St. Louis knows what the folly of intrusting the management of his home affairs to a distant power is costing him and his city. Our police department is only one of numerous instances that might be cited. Absentee government is a fallacy. Carried to its logical conclusion it is fatal.

"Government, after all, is a very simple thing," said one of our statesmen who is no longer with us. He was profoundly mistaken. Government is a difficult and continuous problem. In a Government like ours if we are to have the kind of government we really want we must be vigilant, resolute, conscientious. When those qualities are brought into play we get what we want. When we default in those obligations we get the kind of government some special interest wants.

WHAT IRELAND NEEDS

We desire to bring a little consolation to those pessimistic ones who are deploring the fact that Irish politics continues to be a Donnybrook fair because no party can get a workable majority in Parliament. We want to tell them that there is every reason to cease their viewing with alarm, and to expect Ireland shortly to become as placid and amiable as our own land.

For Ireland, according to sound reports, is becoming prosperous. For the first time in her history, Erin, from Donegal Bay to the Lakes of Killarney and from Dublin to Galway, is beginning to taste wealth. All Americans will realize what this promises, because they know what recently happened to them when they got, in the same condition. Then the saints of prosperity, our masters of Big Business, decreed that a President to suit the emergency should mount the throne. He must, they insisted, be somebody who would sit tight, not rock the boat, do nothing, and say almost as much. Came Calvin. In a little while, everybody had become so peaceable and devoted to maintaining the status quo that whoever proposed a change was looked on as a nuisance.

Ireland is obviously headed the same way. She is soon going to be in the market for a Coolidge.

INSULT ON GOVERNMENT

The pecky problem of who should rule this turbulent land, which has puzzled everybody since the Founding Fathers gave us a Government, is at last through puzzling us. Samuel Insull, utility magnate of whom every one has heard, tells us, in a pamphlet now being circulated, who should rule us.

And what is the sage counsel of this new Machiavelli? To whom would he intrust the scepter of power in this democracy? Of course, you've guessed it. Mr. Insull says business men—meaning, of course, himself and his sort—ought to run things.

To appreciate what super-fine government we would have under such a regime, all we need do is recall the conduct of this new political philosopher in the last Illinois senatorial primary. In his ideal state, then, it would be considered ethical for the head of a commission which sets the charges of utilities, if he happened to be running for some office, to accept a large contribution from a utility magnate. Further, such a magnate could not be cited for contempt of the Senate (as Mr. Insull shortly will be) for refusing to tell one of its committees to whom he gave $40,000 during a senatorial campaign.

In other words, it would be a great country with the Insulls running things. That is, for the Insulls. For the people, who have to pay for government, and for light and water, it would be something else. But why worry about them? It is the Insulls that government should think of.

The Davis Cup has gone where you can drink something out of it.

GOOD ADVICE TO CITY PLANNERS.

The practitioners of the new art of city planning receive some wholesome instruction from historian Charles A. Beard, in the October issue of the Yale Review. Dr. Beard points out that hitherto they have considered their profession without sufficient regard for its economic aspects. They have never studied how and in what different degrees a particular plan affects such important interests as real estate, utilities, manufacturers, and so on. They will, he believes, be aided materially if they alter their practice, and study city planning with relation to interested economic classes.

The suggestion, we believe, is neither very startling nor subject to valid objection. It is in line with modern political science, which directs that, in this industrial and commercial day, we should give due consideration to economic motives. It is in line with wise practical politics, which always considers economic motives before moving. The various economic interests affected by a proposed city plan, as Dr. Beard declares, always know on which side their bread is buttered, and oppose or support the scheme accordingly. If the planners studied this aspect of their task, they would hence know from whence to expect support and from whence opposition. Then they would not—as they often do now—ask a city to vote on a bond issue to realize a plan, before they have discovered the hidden economic forces which work for or against them. There would be an end of blind and unintelligent action.

THE DEMOCRATS AND THE SENATE.

It has been suggested in news dispatches from Washington that if the Republican membership of the next Senate, through the exclusion of Senators-elect Smith and Vane, is reduced from 48 to 46, the Democrats, with their 47 votes, may try to organize the Senate—that is, to elect the president pro tempore and the other officers and to seize the committee chairmanships now held by the Republicans.

Whether the Democrats could carry through such a plan is highly doubtful. There is the vote of Senator Shipstead, the Farmer-Labor member, to be reckoned with, and Shipstead is commonly with the Republicans on questions relating to organization. Moreover, in the event of a tie the deciding ballot would be cast by the presiding officer—a Republican.

But if the Democrats should assume nominal control of the Senate, they would commit about as grievous a political blunder as can be imagined. The maneuver would temporarily confer additional perquisites of office on a few Democratic Senators, but it would do the party no good. It would, indeed, do the party positive harm. The House is Republican; the President is Republican. To put a Democratic label on the Senate would advance no Democratic cause a whit further than it can be advanced under the Republican label. It would merely enable the Republican administration to shift to the Democrats a portion of the blame for whatever may be the failures of the next Congress. It would put into the hands of the Republicans a campaign "alibi" and that without any compensating advantage to the Democrats.

The Republicans are entitled by the last election to have a Congress organized in both branches by the members of their party. Clothed with power, they should be clothed with responsibility also—and the Democrats should not let them evade or divide it.

The Democrats should function in the next Senate as a vigilant minority. In that way they will serve both themselves and the country best. To accept a paper leadership without the power to make it effective would be to commit an even greater political folly than when they allied themselves with Mr. Mellon and his stalwart Republican followers in the battle over the last revenue bill.

Happily, there are signs that some of the Democratic leaders see the pitfalls ahead of the party and will try to steer clear of them.

THE CORBETTY STATUTE BOOKS.

The law is a lagard is an aphorism which applies with particular emphasis to the ancient debtor's law of Illinois. Mamel Gonzales, an East St. Louis coal dealer, was put in jail at Belleville last Thursday under that statute for non-payment of a judgment rendered against him in favor of Mrs. Florence Hagen. Some time ago while driving a seriously wounded friend to a hospital, Gonzales collided with Mrs. Hagen's car and injured her. Mrs. Hagen, in accordance with the terms of the law, offered Gonzales' board to keep him in jail. Gonzales was released on bond Saturday.

This is one of a series of recent cases in which the outmoded statute has been invoked. Circuit Judge Crow, in commenting upon the case of H. M. Casey, a couple of years ago, gave his opinion that the debtor's law must be construed as a "statute against common rights" and referred to it as a relic out of keeping with our present-day civilization. The Legislature, however, has not done anything about it, and the medieval statute remains on the books.

The debtor's law is of a piece with all the old blue laws that exist on the statute books of many states. The blue laws are dead by common consent, but must be complied with in any court of law when, as not infrequently happens, some one invokes their eighteenth-century anathema against the habits of twentieth-century citizens. We would not trade a Rolls-Royce for an ox-cart, we would not accept an eighteenth-century physician's treatment of disease, but we permit ourselves to be tyrannized by the thought of a dead age.

What we need is a thorough house-cleaning of the statute books which the lawyers, who should take leadership in such things, have failed to insist upon. The statute books are almost as cobbler as our ancient rules of procedure which even England, whence we got them, has mostly cast aside.

NOTICE TO BURGLARS.

Ira Littlejohn, who keeps watch over his employer's gun shop in East St. Louis, has routed five burglars in six years and has shot two of them. The last time, when Burglar Robert Bradford broke the front display window, Ira carefully selected a weapon from the armory he keeps within easy reach and pinked Burglar Bradford in the arm.

It becomes increasingly evident that Ira doesn't like burglars and is much annoyed for the loss of sleep they cause him. Therefore, in ordinary fairness to members of the ancient nocturnal profession, we warn them to stay away from 467 Collinsville avenue, where Ira holds forth.

RADIO AT ITS BEST.

As Graham McNamee poured his white-hot story of the Dempsey-Tunney fight into the microphone at Soldiers' Field, and if his auditors in various parts of the country paid him the ultimate tribute of dying of excitement. Such response to the great radio announcer's power of narration is far more eloquent than the praise of men who managed to live through it.

We do not know whether or not McNamee consciously strove for emotional effects. Perhaps he was simply out of breath in the frenzied task of describing the action in the flashing scene before his eyes. At any rate, he did succeed in making the fight a tense drama. In the ninth and tenth rounds, he spat out words with machine-gun speed which sizzled and crackled as they hit the target of a million loud speakers. Dempsey's furious spurt in the seventh round, climaxed in the knockdown of Tunney, was described in stirring staccato bringing McNamee's hearers to the edges of their chairs.

Radio was at its best last Thursday night. But what a dreadful anti-climax it was when McNamee signed off and the regular programs came on! As a suggestion for more McNamee, why not get him to report the next interesting debate in the United States Senate? Let him treat it as a piece of dramatic action, giving descriptions of the colorful characters and bits of the speeches. McNamee, by cleverness, has made many pugilistic fans. Maybe he could also stir up some interest in politics.

Indiana should have stuck to literature.

THAT SEPTEMBER SIZZLE.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ABOUT a week ago something went wrong with the weather as usually charted for September in the corn country. It was hot in Chicago. It was hotter in St. Louis. Kansas City smothered in a heat wave. In the Iowa flatlands the mercury uplifted itself in the glass. A blanket of heat covered the Missouri bottoms by day and by night.

In a night this heat reservoir had melted over into mid-September. It was hot at sunup and it was hot at sundown. The sky was a brass bowl flecked with a sheen of blue. There was a great deep pool of heat records for September were melted down to the Atlantic. The seaboard panted like a lizard sunning himself on a sun-baked roof.

The brave corn lifts in regiments of ten thousand sabers to the sun. In North Dakota the returning heat carried the corn safely over the dreaded "frost line." In Missouri the hot wave turned "roasting ears" into the "dented" stage.

OTHERWISE IT IS ACCURATE.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

GOV. FULLER'S statement last week recommending observance of a certain day as sacred to the memory of the Constitution of the United States, referred to Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall and Alexander Hamilton, among other "founding fathers," as having been prominent members of the constitutional convention of 1787. The Boston Herald promptly corrected the error as to Jefferson. He was in France at the time. Several correspondents of the Herald also called attention to the fact that neither was Marshall there. It might be added that Alexander Hamilton was absent from the convention most of the time it was in session and was not at all influential in framing the immortal instrument. With these several corrections, the Governor's statement as to the Constitution may be accepted as historically accurate.

SLAMMING OUR JESSE.

From the Buffalo Evening News.

IT is true that other nations have paid honor to great freebooters. There was Sir Henry Morgan, knighted by England after a career of buccannery on the Spanish Main. Fra Diavolo is kindly remembered in Italy. Every country has its Robin Hood. But it would be a dangerous precedent in these days of sentimentalization over notorious criminals to honor Jesse James. Who knows, some persons might one day propose similar tributes to Chapman, Whittemore and other bandits of recent activity? It is pretty good practice to reserve memorial shafts to the exemplars of virtue.

MODEST CLEVELAND.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NOT failure, but low aim, is crime," Chicago, by this test, is no criminal. Chicago wants a great deal here below, and wants that great deal long. "I will" is the Chicago motto. It might well be "I get what I can."

For the nonce we shall make no mention of Chicago's effort to appropriate the Great Lakes. We have nearer matter for discussion. Chicago was the 1925 political conventions. One or both, preferably both. "Chicago, convention city of the world," is a style Chicago has chosen for herself. And, says the Chicago Tribune, "it is no empty title."

"Big words do not smite like war clubs." It may be added that "boastful breath is not a bow-string." Yet continual self-advertisement is likely to be profitable. Cleveland, mayhap, cannot talk as loudly as Chicago. Yet Cleveland has a great deal to talk about. And when Chicago goes after everything and claims to be the ideal convention city of the known-universe, it is time for Cleveland, with all the urbanity and graciousness characteristic of this city, to register some form of practical protest.

In our polite way we have been seeking to attract the Democratic and Republican conventions. We are confident that we have as good a convention city as the Chicagos have, and we fancy it is even better. We enjoy a cooler summer than Chicago; our lake breezes are less boisterous, and our gunmen are generally inclined to keep under cover.

POLITICAL CANDOR.

From the New Bedford Standard.

THE American Mercury reprints two political advertisements from a Georgia paper. In one of them a candidate for County Treasurer says he wants the office because "I offers a fairly good pay with little work; in the other, his rival, even more candid, proclaims that he wants the place because he is old and unable to work for a living.

The frankness of these men is extraordinary and refreshing. Rarely do candidates for public office tell honestly why they want it. Usually they represent that they have been urged to run by their friends, or by an important element of the electorate, and that their purpose is to purge the government of its evils, reduce taxes, stamp out vice, introduce business methods and give everybody what he wants. If they actually wanted a job he says they did not feel like working for a living they would not be so rude as to say so. We always think of the South as backward in matters political, but if these advertisements are any criterion they are away ahead of us down there in candor.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Classic Example of Sportsmanship

By Lowell Thomas.

(Copyright, 1927, Page.)

There are those who suspect that the most tragic aspect of the late war was not concerned with slaughter and maiming, and destruction of the useful production of labor of men—obvious and foolish as all that—but rather with the systematic launching of men's minds in the direction of adult intelligence and the suppression of the finest qualities of the evolving human mind; and spirit.

During the past five or six years there has been a steadily increasing number of books in all fields of knowledge to which we were subjected during the great conflict.

In regard to this as a hopeful sign; account of the adventures of a "Hun" on the high seas during the years when all "Huns" were supposedly engaged in the perpetration of unspeakable atrocities. It was written by an Englishman, none other than one who first acquainted the world with the exploits of the great British hero, Lawrence of Arabia. Mr. Thomas tells us that, having written the story of Lawrence, he began to cast about for some hero of the Central Powers whose deeds were comparable with those of Lawrence on the side of the Allies, and he found Count Felix von Luckner, the "Sea Devil" of Germany. Here he has presented the whole story of Luckner's life.

Felix von Luckner, it will be remembered, was the man who sailing from Hamburg in a windjammer disguised as a Swedish freighter, ran the British blockade in a hurricane and for over a year preyed on the shipping lanes of the Atlantic and Pacific. During this, one of the most remarkable cruises in the history of navigation, he sank 14 ships of the enemy, some of them steamers larger and better armed than his own vessel, yet caused not one drop of blood to be shed and not one life to be lost.

There have been many stirring tales of the sea, by men who knew the life at first hand, but this writer recalls not one that equals von Luckner's bald narrative of almost incredible fact. It is not, fundamentally, the fact of daring adventure that sets the book apart, however. It is that the adventure is characterized by a combination of uncompromising honor and courage and humanity. Luckner always "played cricket." He sank ships because it was his duty as an officer of the German Navy to do so; but his captives were treated as the welcome guests of a gentleman, and when sent home in captured ships they were put upon their honor not to communicate with any ship until a stipulated port was reached. It is significant that only one man ever betrayed the "Sea Devil's" confidence.

After being wrecked on a coral island in the South Pacific, Luckner with five men set out in an open boat in the hope of capturing a passing ship and returning to their marooned comrades. After a voyage of 2340 miles, he reached the Fiji Islands. There he allowed himself and his party to be taken by three British soldiers, though he could have captured the lonely place, seized a ship and sailed away. He did this, he tells us, because he and his men were in civilian clothes. He chose captivity as a soldier rather than freedom as an outlaw.

The point in reading the book, aside from its compelling interest as a narrative of amazing adventure, is to note the unflinching spirit of sportsmanship that is easily the finest flower of the human spirit in the lives of men in action. In our "go-getting" generation, so conspicuously obsessed with the idea of "getting by" at any cost, this spirit is particularly precious. It was revealed by numerous individuals in all the contending armies. But, remembering certain notions that were abroad 10 years ago, it is a matter for rejoicing to find the spirit even in a single "Hun."

The Week's New Films

By NIE

Nothing more amazing than "Chang," which is at the Mission Theater this week, has shown on the screen. It is a story of a moving picture, it is a story of the jungle and all important battle of man against nature for self preservation. It is a thin woven plot written into this natural melodrama without it the film would have been a mere dramatic portrayal of a man in the jungle.

As it really is in the jungle, the story is a Chinese tale of a man who is a Chinese and who is a Chinese. It is a story of a man who is a Chinese and who is a Chinese. It is a story of a man who is a Chinese and who is a Chinese.

It does not take much of a prophet to foretell the subject of any interview with Senator Fess.

An expert is a man who can begin a sentence with "If," and then make you forget how the sentence began.

If there is any talking to be done after this Indiana politicians undoubtedly will choose the radio.

Arbitration plans are disqualified mainly because they are qualified to excess.

Another thing we like about Mike of Kumania is that, to date, none of the people who discovers those things has found that he is a child prodigy.

It seems a pity that the seven labors of Hercules had been completed long before the inventor of Pullman car windows was born.

When you read that a nation repudiated all the war charges, you are a little uncertain what is meant until you learn the article does not refer to debts.

There are such things as allied armies, but in China, they seem to be merely associated armies.

COUNTRESS MARITZA OPENS SHOW SEASON

Delightful Hungarian Light Opera Finely Sung at the Shubert-Rialto.

COUNTRESS MARITZA—An opera in a prologue and three acts. Music by Emmerich Kalman and American book by Harry B. Smith from the original of Julius Brammer and Alfred Neumann. Presented at the Shubert-Rialto with the following cast:

Neomunk, a lawyer... Robert Roling
Countess Maritza... Miss Mary Elizabeth Lumagli
Frederick D. Gardner... Miss Janet Gardner
Miss Janet Gardner... Miss Janet Gardner

By H. M. NIEMEYER.

AFTER several postponements and delayed starts the "legitimate" theatrical season in St. Louis got under way, for the time being at least, with the presentation last night of the delightful light opera, "Countess Maritza," at the Shubert-Rialto Theater. With a score by Emmerich Kalman, whose earlier success, "Sari," was written in much the same vein, and an American book provided by Harry B. Smith from the original of two little known Austrians, "Countess Maritza" takes its place among the best of the modern imported operettas. The book, it is true, has probably lost something in the process of translation and the injection of some musical comedy slapstick buffonery seems out of place at times, but the piece is so beautifully sung and so magnificently produced by the Messrs. Shubert that it proves to be a rare treat. It will be a fine offering for the great stage and the large company at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park in a year or so, when its regular indoor theater value has declined.

The story, a consistent one, is of gypsy life and high life in Hungary, where an impoverished young Count sets out to repair his fortunes and provide a dowry for his sister, by going to work as an overseer on the estate of the Countess Maritza, who has great wealth and a greater suspicion that all of her admirers are after her fortune.

There is a gypsy violin girl who is madly in love with the young Count, and the romance revolves around her attempts to win him from the wealthy Countess. In the end, the gypsy goes back to her tribe and Maritza discovers that her happiness and her fortune will be safe in the young man's hands. The company, practically the same as that which sang the piece in New York all last season, and almost entirely new to St. Louis, is a fine one. Walter Woolf, a baritone, who can act, is excellent as the young Count who seeks his fortune through hard work, and Gladys Baxter, in the title role of Maritza, is a singer of great charm. The chief female role, however, is that of Maria, the gypsy girl, and it is splendidly played and sung by Odette Myrtil, a graduate of the music halls who bring into the part all of the assurance and ability of the successful vaudeville performer.

There is a great deal of acrobatic dancing fitted into the play and Harry K. Morton and George Dobbs score heavily in this line. They are ably assisted by Marjorie Peterson, a stunning little ingenue who also has a splendid voice.

Playing a very minor role in the cast is Hugh Chivers. In the days when Lillian Russell and Della Fox and other light opera stars were in their prime, Chivers was a handsome, dashing young leading man whose voice did much to help the popularity of the women stars he supported.

"Countess Maritza" is a worthwhile operetta and has been lavishly but beautifully and tastefully mounted. The chorus was evidently carefully selected for its ability to sing.

CARMEN IS BACK AGAIN

Dolores del Rio Pleasing in Familiar Film Story at the St. Louis. With Toto, the clown, and George Whiting and Sadie Burt, singing entertainers, among others on the vaudeville bill, and Dolores del Rio and Victor McLaglen in "The Loves of Carmen" for the motion picture, the St. Louis Theater this week has a well-balanced offering of comedy romance, music and cleverness. Whiting and Burt, as usual, have a number of song dialogues introducing humorously interesting characters—"the best dam caballero in all Mexico," the girl who asks "What price love?" and a man and a maid each turning on the other with, "It all depends on you." Toto's performance is excellent pantomime. Among other things in his "Revue à la Minute" he introduces one of the scintillating long-legged dolls which, in some mysterious way, he makes do a Charleston.

"The Loves of Carmen" directed by Raoul Walsh, is the latest of some half dozen movie rehashes of Prosper Merimee's celebrated story. Miss Del Rio, with bird-like vivacity, is attractively convincing as the heroine, and McLaglen, late Captain Flagg of "What Price Glory?" is a burly Escamillo.

Gardner and her mother, who sailed Saturday from France, will arrive home Sunday.

Last week saw the return of Judge and Mrs. Albert D. Norton of the Cathedral Apartments, 4404 Lindell boulevard, who spent the past eight weeks in California. The major part of their stay was at the Coronado Beach Hotel, Coronado Beach, from whence they toured the various points of interest. Judge and Mrs. Norton arrived home last Wednesday.

Mrs. Ewell Smith of 5746 Kingsbury boulevard, and her daughter, Miss Margaret Smith, departed a few days ago for Denver, Colo., where they will stay for a year for Miss Smith's health.

GENE AUSTIN HEADS GOOD PROGRAM AT THE ORPHEUM

From top to bottom the bill at the Orpheum this week is a good one. Gene Austin, a tenor with a light flexible voice and a piccolo falsetto is just what the program calls for, a parlor entertainer. He plays the piano with the back of his hand and chirrup ditties which he has helped to make popular in phonograph records. The audience liked him from his permanent wave to his white spats.

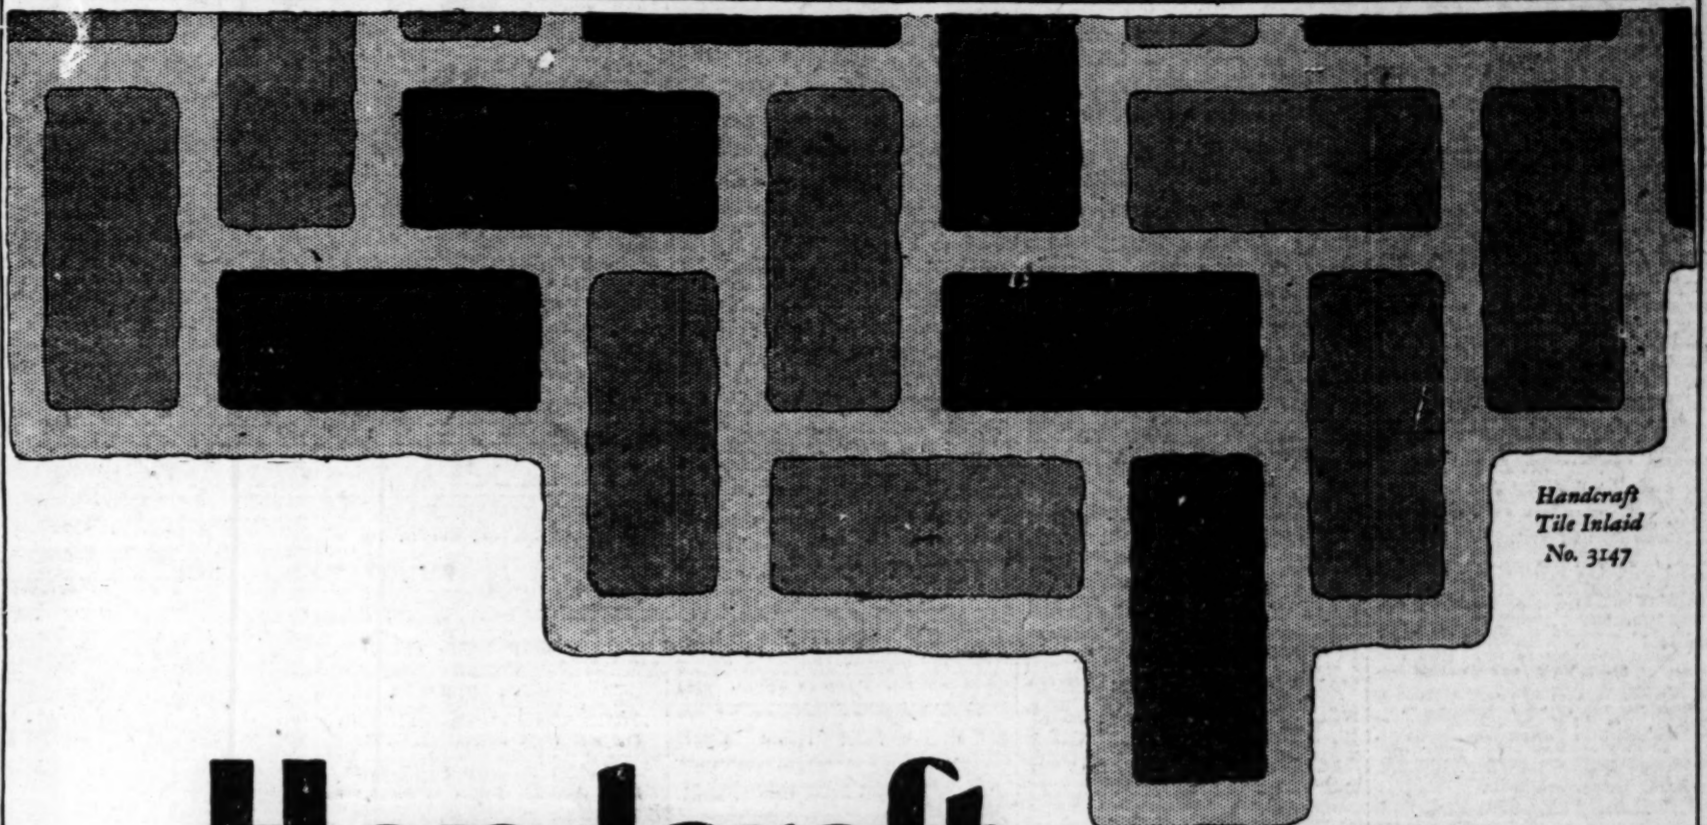

Joe Morris and Flo Campbell, Joe in a box and Flo on the stage, have been seen here before but get as many laughs as ever. Pat Henning who does a little of everything including a series of difficult dance steps, stayed until he was tired out, then had to stay some more. Frank Reckless, who stands on his head on a trapeze bar swinging in a 20-foot arc, is assisted by two able-bodied young women in an unusual balancing performance. Paul Petching and Co. (Co. is a woman) in their musical garden, a novelty with clever light effects, got an encore and four calls which is something of a tribute to the number which open the bill. Alexander and Peggs have a patter act.

SOME LAUGHS, BUT NOT MUCH ELSE IN "JACK IN THE PULPIT"

The National Players, at the Empress this week, are wasting their time and talent with a starchy mess such entitled, "Jack in the Pulpit." This really is nothing more or less than a tenth or eleventh rehashing of the once juicy idea that a burglar, going straight, can win the girl and a million dollars.

Gordon Morris, who assembled this melange of borrowed business, has, however, introduced a number of snappy lines good for laughs in any theater. He has not treated the players kindly. Don Burroughs has quite a bit of talking to do, but no acting; Ruth Thomas fares only a little better. Miss Vincent struggles ineffectually against impossible and inconsistent lines. The character bits are somewhat better. Alice Baker has one of those mother roles which she does so well; Hal Price is an ancient New England hard-heart; Frank Jaquet, the village Board of Police Commissioner, and Maureen Olson is his wife. Others who appear are Phil Macy, the villain; Helene Tobin, matrimonially inclined; Edward Schilling, the third of three crooks, and Richard Weight, a detective.

SQUARE QUARRY TILES...actually embossed

One of the newest Armstrong Floors—embossed inlaid linoleum, No. 6018. A quarry tile effect in actual relief, mortars and grout lines that are pressed slightly into the floor.

CHIPPED TILE EFFECT with freely spotted figures

The pattern (Number 3016) shown above to the left is a pleasing combination of three shades of red—each tile framed with a gray interliner. Here and there a "chipped tile" effect is introduced, giving a hand-set appearance. Notice the freely spotted floral motifs—placed with artistic irregularity.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Stock prices turned reactionary today in reflection of disappointing earnings reports and speculative uneasiness over the brokers' loan figures to be made public on Thursday. Early gains of one to three points in many of the popular issues were cut down, or wiped out, with final quotations disclosing a rather sizeable list of one to eight point declines. Trading was fairly heavy, the day's sales falling just below 2,000,000 shares.

In the commodity markets a jump of $3.50 a bale in cotton against $2.50 in August last year, a decline of about 2 cents a bushel in wheat futures under the influence of better weather in Canada, a larger visible supply and slow export demand.

U. S. Steel Shows Weakness.

The bearish tone of many week-end commission house letters and a factor in the selling of stocks. Considerable attention also was paid to the semiannual report of the New York Air Brake Co., which reported net earnings of $1,000,000 in the first half of 1927, and to the August statement of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe, which reported net operations income of $5,000,000 against $4,000,000 in August last year.

Weakness was shown by U. S. Steel common, which sold down 4 points to 148 1/2. Bethlehem reacted 3 points and Crucible 1/2, but the latter, called independent showed little change.

General Motors (old stock) broke down 2 1/2 to 26 1/2 and then rallied slightly, while the new stock showed a net loss of 4 points at 121 1/2. Chrysler, Hudson, Nash and Mack Trucks sold down a point or two, and Pierce Arrow preferred sank 2 points to a new low at 33.

N. Y. Air Brake Down $1.

New York Air Brake broke 5 points to a new low at 40 on publication of its report, and acute weakness also developed in such issues as Baldwin, Case Threshing, Commercial Solvents, Dupont, National Distillers, Elva Elevator, Tunkin Roller Bearing, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Woolworth, all of which sold down 2 to 7 points.

Utilities Also React.

An early outburst of strength in the Public Utilities carried nearly a dozen issues in that group to new high ground, but they reacted with the rest of the list later, among those to react through to new peak prices were Abilene Power, American Water Works, Commonwealth Power, National Power & Light, North American Co., Peoples Gas, Public Service, New Jersey and Southern California Edison.

LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER

Lead was quiet at $10.10 per 100 lbs. in St. Louis today. Zinc was quiet at $10.10 per 100 lbs. in St. Louis today.

Europe to the Orient

The illustration depicts three modes of travel. On the left, a silhouette of the Eiffel Tower stands on a rocky shore. In the center, a large steamship with multiple funnels is shown sailing on the water, framed within a rectangular border. On the right, a traditional Japanese sailboat with a large, dark sail is shown on the water. The background features stylized clouds and waves.

Acid Stomach

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" is water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessors since Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

The BENSON MURDER CASE

S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

THIS HAS HAPPENED.

Benson has been shot while reading. In the room are a woman's gloves and handbag. A policeman reports having seen a big gray automobile outside the Benson home at midnight. Markham traces the handbag to Miss St. Clair and tells Vance that she is innocent.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

"'Tis quite simple, y' know," Vance replied with a quizzical "twinkle of the lips." "You haven't your eye on the murderer for the reason that the person who committed this particular crime was sufficiently shrewd and perceptive to see to it that no evidence which you or the police were likely to find, would even remotely indicate his guilt."

He had spoken with the easy assurance of one who enunciates an obvious fact—a fact which permits of no argument.

Markham gave a disdainful laugh. "No law-breaker," he asserted sarcastically, "is shrewd enough to see all contingencies. Even the most trivial event has so many intimately related and serrated points of contact with other events which precede and follow, that it is a known fact that every criminal—however long and carefully he may plan—leaves some loose end to his preparations, which in the end betrays him."

"A known fact?" Vance repeated. "No, my dear fellow—merely a conventional superstition, based on the childish idea of an implacable, avenging Nemesis. I can see how this esoteric notion of the inevitability of divine punishment would appeal to the popular imagination, like fortune-telling and ouija boards, don't y' know, but—my word!—it degrades me to think that you, old chap, would give credence to such mystical moonshine."

"Don't let it spoil your entire day," said Markham acidly. "Regard the unsolved, or successful, crimes that are taking place every day," Vance continued, disregarding the other's irony, "crimes which completely baffles the best detectives in the business, what? The fact is, the only crimes that are ever solved are those planned by stupid people. That's why, whenever a man of even moderate sagacity decides to commit a crime, he accompanies it with but little difficulty, and fortified with the positive assurance of his immunity to discovery."

"Undetected crimes," scornfully submitted Markham, "result, in the main, from official bad luck—not from superior criminal cleverness."

"Bad luck"—Vance's voice was almost dulcet—"is merely a defensive and self-consoling synonym for inefficiency. A man with ingenuity and brains is not harassed by bad luck. . . . No, Markham, old dear, unsolved crimes are simply crimes which have been intelligently planned and executed. And, y' see, it happens that the Benson murder falls into that category. Therefore, when, after a few hours' investigation, you say you're pretty sure who committed it, you must pardon me if I take issue with you."

He paused and took a few meditative puffs of his cigar. "The factious and caustic methods of deduction you chase pursue are apt to lead almost anywhere. In proof of which assertion I point triumphantly to the unfortunate young lady whose liberty you are now plotting to take away."

Markham, who had been hiding his resentment behind a smile of tolerant contempt, now turned on Vance and fairly glowered.

"It so happens—and I'm speaking ex cathedra—he proclaimed defiantly, "that I come pretty near having the goods on your 'unfortunate young lady.'"

Vance was unmoved. "And yet y'know," he observed dryly, "no woman could possibly have done it."

I could see that Markham was furious. When he spoke he almost spluttered. "A woman couldn't have done it, eh—no matter what the evidence?" "Quite so," Vance rejoined placidly "not if she herself swore to it and produced a tone of what you actors of the law term, rather pompously, 'incontrovertible evidence.'"

"Ah!" There was no mistaking the sarcasm of Markham's tone. "I am to understand then that you even regard confessions as valueless?" "Yes, my dear Justinian," the other responded, with an air of complacency. "I would have you understand precisely that. Indeed, they are worse than valueless—they're downright misleading. The fact that occasionally they may prove correct—like woman's preposterous overrated intuition—renders them just so much more unreliable."

Markham granted disdainfully. "Why should any person confess something to his detriment unless he felt that the truth had been found out, or was likely to be found out?"

"Pon my word, Markham, you astound me! Permit me to murmur into your innocent ear that there are many other plausible motives for confessing."

"A confession may be the result of fear, or duress, or expediency, or malice—love, or jealousy, or what the psycho-analysts call the infinitely complex, or delusions, or a mistaken sense of duty, or a perverted opinion, or sheer vanity, or any other of a hundred causes. Confessions are the most treacherous and unreliable of all forms of evidence; and even the silly and unscientific law reputes them in murder cases unless substantiated by other evidence."

"You are eloquent; you wring me," said Markham. "But if the law threw out all confessions and ignored all material clues as they are ignorant of its operations. The truth can be learned only by an analysis of the psychological factors of a crime, and an application of them to the individual."

The only real clues are psychological—not material. Your truly profound expert, for instance, does not judge and authenticate pictures by an inspection of the underpinning and a chemical analysis of the pigments, but by studying the creative personality revealed in the picture's conception and execution."

"He asks himself: Does this work of art embody the qualities of form and technique and mental attitude that made up the genius—namely, the personality—of Rubens, or Michelangelo, or Veronese, or Titian, or Tintoretto, or whoever may be the artist to whom the work has been tentatively credited."

"My mind is, I fear," Markham confessed, "still sufficiently primitive to be impressed by vulgar facts; and in the present instance—unfortunately for your most original and artistic analogy—I possess quite an array of such facts, all of which indicate that a certain young woman is the—shall we say?—creator of the criminal opus entitled 'The Murder of Alvin Benson.'"

Vance shrugged his shoulders almost imperceptibly. "Would you mind telling me—in confidence, of course—what these facts are?"

"Certainly not," Markham acceded. "First: the lady was in the house at the time the shot was fired."

Vance affected incredulity. "Eh—my word! She was actually there? Most extraordinary!" "The evidence of her presence is unassailable," pursued Markham. "As you know, the gloves she wore at dinner, and the hand-bag she carried with her, were both found on the mantel in Benson's living-room."

"Oh!" murmured Vance, with a faintly deprecating smile. "It was not the lady, then, but her gloves and bag which were present—a minute and unimportant distinction, no doubt, from the legal point of view. . . . Still, he added, "I deplore the inability of my layman's untutored mind to accept the two conditions as identical. My trousers are at the dry-cleaners; therefore, I am at the dry-cleaners, what?"

The Greatest Story in the World—By Kor

And it came to pass on the morrow, that Moses sat to judge the people: and the people stood by Moses from the morning unto the evening. And when Moses' father-in-law saw all that he did to the people, he said, What is this thing that thou doest to the people? Why sittest thou thyself alone, and all the people stand by thee from morning unto even? And Moses said unto his father-in-law, Because the people come to enquire of God: When they have a matter, they come unto me; and I judge between one and another. And I do make them know the statutes of God, and his laws.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query, and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given. Questions on medical questions of undoubted character when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

Q.—The verb "be" is irregular. The third person, singular, present tense, subjunctive, "were," and this is the only way to know and recognize the forms of an irregular verb, such as "be," is to memorize them.

A.—Recipe for nasturtium salad: One head of lettuce, 1 tablespoon nasturtium seeds, French dressing. Wash lettuce and place in bowl, scatter seeds over the top, cover with French dressing and garnish with blossoms. The merit of nasturtium as a salad plant is mainly for blending with other salads, the leaves, young shoots and flower buds being agreeably pungent. The picked seed pods are frequently substituted for capers in any salad which includes capers.

Fashion Fads and Fancies

By Mildred Ash

Yoked to Yoke Fashions—Both the blouses and skirts of new tailored frocks exploit this feature. Many of the blouse yokes have the appearance of being buttoned on, while those on the skirt accent the tightly fitted hipline, that is one of the strongest forecasts of the coming season.

Expecting the unexpected is what the summer ensemble costumes have taught us to do. What fashion prophet could have foreseen the fad for a black satin pleated skirt worn with a delicately colored, sleeveless, linen slip-on and cardigan jacket to match? On the coat lapel is worn a black flower.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN ALPINE FLOOD REPORTED

Many Towns Under Water in Austrian Tyrol, Liechtenstein and Along Swiss Border.

5000-FOOT DAM ON UPPER RHINE BREAKS

Train Service Into Germany Suspended—Property Damage Estimated at Millions.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Many lives are believed to have been lost in Alpine floods which inundated the principality of Liechtenstein, the western section of Switzerland and the upper Trentino, Italy, after tremendous rains over the weekend. Especially affected are those valleys the waters of which join the Rhine above Lake Constance, while the upper Rhine itself is amazingly swollen and the lake is believed to be overflowing. The total of fatalities is unknown and cannot be reliably computed until the communications broken by the flood are restored. Latest reports say the situation is improving somewhat, with rain beginning to subside. A sudden drop in temperature in the mountain regions has checked the melting of the snow which largely contributed to the floods.

Huge Dam Collapses.—Liechtenstein, which with an area of 65 square miles, is the second smallest principality in the world, was almost overwhelmed by the inundation. The worst incident of the flood in that region was the collapse of a 5000-foot concrete dam on the Liechtenstein-Swiss border, allowing the waters of the Rhine to sweep over the tiny principality. Many villages are under water and some of the inhabitants, caught by the rushing torrent before they could escape to the mountainsides, are believed to have perished. The Liechtenstein Government has appealed to its neighbors for quick aid. The property damage there will run into the millions and tens of thousands of cattle were drowned.

Many Resorts Suffer.—Many places known the world over as tourist resorts have shared in the suffering, notably in the upper Engadine region of Switzerland. There has been much damage at St. Moritz, Pontresina and Chur, where the gas and electric lighting systems are paralyzed. As a result, some of the hotels have been closed, and on others the lights are dimmed. The authorities everywhere are making energetic relief measures, shipping troops and boatsmen to every help to the distressed districts.

Native Principality Reported to Be in Bed of Mud.—LIECHTENSTEIN, Austria, Sept. 27.—Only the whole of the principality of Liechtenstein, flooded through the breaking of the Rhine dam, is reported as presenting the appearance of a huge bog, with only the border houseposts and church spires protruding from the water and mud. The entire adult population of about 10,000 is laboring feverishly to cut passageways through the mud sloughs to their homes, where the recession of the flood waters permits. The children are being kept on high ground, as are the cattle, which would otherwise sink in the soft ooze. It is believed that at least three weeks will be required to dig most of the villages from their blankets of mud.

Laborers on Relief Train Reported Forwarded.—VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 27.—Normal activities in the whole of the Austrian Tyrol and Vorarlberg provinces are reported to have been paralyzed by the floods. Everywhere the roads are impassable, railway embankments have collapsed and the rails, jutting from the mud, are suspended in the air. While the flood waters are receding, only hard labor can restore conditions to normal. Train service between Germany and Italy, over the Brenner Pass, is suspended, as is that between Northern and Southern Tyrol. Just across the Italian border, in the former Austrian Tyrol, workmen's relief train, bearing 10 labor-
